Delivering a tonal, textured pattern in the grey of 924, the high-performance nylon carpet tile is used dominantly for working areas, interspersed with the bold graphic stripe of Taped Off and graduated linear design of Pop Icon from the Street Thread collection, as well as the solid colour of Colorbeat. In shades of yellow, blue, orange and magenta, these accent designs bring separation to meeting rooms, lift lobbies, room entrances and breakout zones; for a scheme with maximum visual impact. Tying in with designs used for partitions, cabinets, partitions and wall graphics, the floor is a central element in delivering a cohesive interior and demonstrates the depth of creativity achievable with IVC carpet tiles.

Designed and made in-house, as well as using the manufacturing capability of the world's largest flooring company in the Street Thread collection, IVC has provided Soangroup with a floor that not only looks great, but that delivers exceptional long-term performance and easy maintenance through the use of quality materials throughout.

From solution-dyed nylon used for stain and fade-resistance on carpet tiles through to the Protectonite® PUR coating on LVT to fight-off stain and marks, IVC products can endure daily use in busy office environments such as that of Saongroup.
